

Whatever -

I am no longer my own, but Yours and Yours alone.

Use me for whatever You will,
place me with whomever You will.

Appoint me to do whatever You want,
or to suffer whatever You ask.

Let me be employed wherever, set aside whenever,
lifted up however, or humbled forever.

Let me be full, let me be empty,
let me have whatever or nothing whatsoever.

I freely and willingly surrender whatsoever I have or am to Your pleasure and will.

And now, awesome and loving God;
Father, Son and Holy Spirit,
You are mine and I am Yours - Whatever!

And may this vow, which I have taken here on earth
sound loud and clear,
until there echoes through Heaven the sound of Your
'Amen!'

- an adaptation of John Wesley's Covenant Prayer
